

DECEMBER

As you were all aware the last few weeks we have been really focusing on Look and Find; thank you to everyone who contributed books to our room for this particular theme. All of your children have really enjoyed the many projects/activities that we have experienced with this including the Whose Missing? game, creating Eye Spy bottles, sensory experiences (searching for items in the sand and in multi-colored shredded paper), and Hide and Seek!

As well as working on our Look and Find Project we have been slowly moving into the Christmas Holiday and what it really means (not just the presents ☺) to everyone including the birth of Baby Jesus. I have many activities, sensory experiences and also some wonderful books to read to the children to bring in this spectacular holiday so please be aware that there will be lots of papers going home within the next couple of weeks.

Potty training: we are in full potty training mode! For my older children who are potty training right now; we will be really focusing on bathroom breaks every twenty minutes. For the younger children who are not quite to that stage yet; I would like you to know that when we do our bathroom breaks before snacks and lunch time I do give these children the opportunity to use the bathroom if they are interested and if they do for me I will let you know.

Important dates to Remember:
